

THE COUNTY'S FINANCES.

Outstanding Warrants Amount to More Than $300,000.

THE CLEARINGS INCREASE.

A BETTER FEELING PREVAILS AMONG BUSINESS MEN.

Railroad Interest—Power Plant Operations—Bethesda State Company—Electric Office—Taxes Coming in—Stocks—Wool Growers Meet—The Cattle Market—Insurance Matters—Business Notes.

The finances of Salt Lake county are fast approaching that stage where an issue of bonds will be absolutely necessary, unless the people are more desirous of paying interest at the rate of 8 per cent on the outstanding indebtedness, or of paying increased taxes, rather than submitting to the bonding of the county and thereby securing money at the rate of 5 per cent or less. This county is in remarkably good condition financially and the bonds, if placed on the market, could easily be disposed of, even though they drew but 4 per cent interest. At the close of business yesterday the total amount of outstanding registered warrants was $307,000. This is nearly double the total amount of the revenue which will flow into the treasury of the county for the year, and therefore it will not be less than a year and a half before the paper can all be retired. Meanwhile annual expenses of the county will be going on and then the end will come with unexpected violence for some one. Conservative people see that there can be only one result, and that will mean the bonding of the county in order to clear off its debt created by the present administration.

During this year the county will receive from general taxes about $125,000 and an estimated $30,000 from special sources. The joint city and county building is not nearly finished; that is, the title have not nearly all been paid, so that by the time the taxes are received the present debt will have been swollen to nearly, if not quite, $400,000.

CLEARINGS STILL ADVANCING.

Double What They Were One Year Ago at This Time.

Salt Lake city's clearings continue to attract attention in the business and financial world on account of the great upward flights of their totals. But few of the cities of the United States show such increases as does Salt Lake, and in consequence the city's credit is being strengthened both at home and abroad for financial men base their opinion of a city's stability to a great extent upon the amount of business done and cleared through its associated banks. During the week just closed, clearings to the amount of $1,023,361 were passed through the clearing house, as against a total of $388,371 for the same week last year, being an increase of but little less than 100 per cent. Such a record as this is bound to bring the greatest credit upon the city and the people will reap the golden harvest.

There is now a noticeably better feeling among financial and business men and the universal opinion is that this city and territory are just entering upon that era of prosperity for which all have so long waited. Eastern cheap money is flowing in for investment, and while the owners would much rather loan than make regular investments in anything other than stocks and bonds, yet a number of good real estate deals are on and many more will be, and the city will be endowed with money from the East. The conditions are daily becoming more favorable and the indications are that it will not be long before the return of the good old times.

RAILROAD INTEREST TO BE PAID.

Receivers of the Union Pacific Will Send Money to Utah.

Utah holders of Utah Southern, Utah Southern Extension and Utah Northern & Oregon Short Line bonds were busy yesterday, for a short time only, it is true, cutting off the interest coupons which are to be redeemed by the receivers of the Union Pacific. The news that the receivers had determined to pay the interest which became due on July 1, gave a great deal of pleasure to a large number of people in this territory, there being quite a heavy list of holders of these securities. Many of them are members or descendants of the Young, Shurtz and Jensen families. These bonds are thirty-year golds and have now run just fifteen years. The interest is payable semi-annually, and in the payment of the coupons sent east yesterday the receivers of the Union Pacific will distribute several thousand dollars.

POWER PLANT OPERATIONS.

Forty Men Employed on the Big Cottonwood Work.

Forty men are now given employment by the Big Cottonwood Power company, which is rushing the completion of its tunnel and dam project with all the speed possible to such force. The two faces of the tunnel are within a few feet of each other and the workmen may come together at any time. At the dam, the concrete is being made and the reservoir will be ready within a short time. During the past week the works have been inspected by a number of eastern gentlemen of means, who have expressed great surprise at the magnitude of the enterprise. It is very probable that some outside capital will soon be put into the company. The local people are prepared to push the project through without any outside aid, however, and should the council decide to advertise for bids for the enterprise, say this will enter the competition with the view of knocking out all other bidders. It is possible to get the new plant into working order some time before the expiration of the present contract, they say.

SLATE COMPANY ELECTS OFFICERS.

It Should Have Secured the Joint Building Contract.

The stockholders of the Bethesda Slate Quarry company, whose extensive deposits of very superior quality of slate are in Slate canyon near Provo, have just held their annual meeting for the election of officers. As the result of the election Elias Morris was chosen president of the company, Arnold G. Glagie, vice-president; George M. Cannon, secretary and treasurer, and these gentlemen with John P. Morris and Ernest E. Morris added constitute the board of directors.

This company should have received the contract for the slating of the roof of the joint city and county building and was promised the work, which it could have done just as well as eastern people and considerably cheaper, but for some reason best known to himself Contractor Bowman saw fit to place his order for the eastern slate before the local people were aware that any such action was contemplated. The quarries are now idle but the slate is there in unlimited quantities ready to be taken out of the mountain. It has taken medals at the World's fair and California Midwinter fair.

SODA WATER COMPANY.

Incorporated With a Capital of Twenty Thousand.

Articles of Incorporation of the Salt

Lake City Soda Water company were filed with the county clerk yesterday.

The object is the business of buying, selling, manufacturing and dealing in soda, mineral and carbonated waters and "fermented and unfermented drinks of any and every sort, extract, cigars, tobacco and other like articles, and to vend the same at wholesale and retail" in this territory.

The amount of capital stock is $20,000, divided into 4,000 shares of the par value of $5.

The incorporators and amounts are as follows:

Emanuel Kahn, $1,000; Shares, 200; Samuel J. Kenyon, $1,000; Shares, 200; Walter Hazeltine, $1,000; Shares, 200; Edward B. Critchlow, $1,000; Shares, 200; William E. Firman, $1,000; Shares, 200.

The property of the corporation consists of all the personal property formerly owned by Charles H. Denhalter in carrying on the business under the name of the Salt Lake City Soda Water company, which was purchased by Sam J. Kenyon on Thursday, said property being estimated at $5,000.

The officers are Emanuel Kahn, president; Edward B. Critchlow, vice-president, and Sam J. Kenyon, secretary and treasurer.

The chief place of business will be Salt Lake city.

Taxes Coming in Slowly.

County Collector Leonard has distributed nearly all of his tax notices for this year and as a result taxes are already being paid by property owners who are able to make immediate payments in order to ease their minds of the matter and do away with the necessity of thinking. The taxes are not delinquent until the 31st day of October.

Wool Growers Meet.

The Salt Lake County Sheep association held a special meeting yesterday afternoon in this city, but transacted no business of any general interest. While annual expenses of the county will be going on and then the end will come with unexpected violence for some one. Conservative people see that there can be only one result, and that will mean the bonding of the county in order to clear off its debt created by the present administration.

Out on the Tintic Extension.

General Manager Murray, of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company, was in the Tintic county yesterday for the purpose of looking after the extension of the line which is being made between Fairfield Switch and Eureka. The poles for the line are being distributed along the route, and within a very short time the extension force will set them and get everything in readiness for the stringing of the wire.

Sheep For Local Consumption.

The Union stockyards yesterday received and weighed out 377 head of sheep from the northern part of the territory, all of which were for the Utah Slaughterhouse company and sixty-six for Stephens & Co.

Now Out of the Union.

All local insurance agents yesterday received official notification that the Northwestern National Insurance company, of Milwaukee, is no longer represented in the Pacific Insurance union. This is Turner's company and was ousted from the union for four self-confessed infractions of the rules of the organization. It is represented here by Walter E. Critchlow, according to the rule they will either have to give up the Northwestern National or their other companies. The company is capitalized at $500,000.

Will Be a Holiday.

Monday being a legal holiday all of the banks and business houses will close their doors, and the city will present the usual holiday appearance.

Through Difficulties.

The motto on the coat of arms of one state in the Union, is "ad astra per aspera," the stars through difficulties; and the same might well be applied to Popperton Place. After a struggle with the government from 1862 until 1888, Charles Popper finally succeeded in having his title to the land fixed by a special act of Congress, and when we got it in 1888 it was called Butcherville. We changed the name the next day, because, you know, Butcherville isn't a nice name for a fine locality. It was then pretty hard for the most imaginative mind to conceive of it ever becoming Salt Lake's great residence locality; but we knew it would. We knew that in time its magnificent location would prove irresistible, and so we have been working along patiently on our plan of development, never doubting what the outcome would be, and every year we made a little progress. We moved 120,000 cubic yards of dirt in building streets. We acquired franchises across the reservation and through the city, and an electric line was constructed. By the slow methods of municipal legislation, we got the water mains extended, and one day saw, with satisfaction, that they were filled with waters of the high line system. We built first-class houses as models for others to follow, and we restrained the temptation, frequently offered us, to sell lots without the building conditions in the deeds; and so, in one way and another, little by little, in the face of difficulties, the day at last dawned when the city of Salt Lake was born.

STAKE CONFERENCE.

Two Sessions Held at the Assembly Hall Yesterday.

The semi-annual conference and monthly meeting of the Salt Lake stake convened in the assembly hall yesterday morning. Those on the stand were President Lorenzo Snow and Elders Heber J. Grant and Abraham H. Cannon, of the stake, and the stake president, Elders Angus M. Cannon, Joseph E. Taylor and C. W. Penrose. After prayer by the president of the stake, the first session of the conference and the high priests' quorum were given and were of an encouraging nature. David McKinnis, secretary of the stake board of education, reported the assessment levied upon the wards for the relief of the Salt Lake college, $13,890, had been paid, leaving a balance of $2,000.

Elder C. W. Penrose spoke at some length upon the affairs of the college and suggested the advisability of making donations to the school, and thus securing monuments to the persons who show their loyalty. The Roman Catholics were cited as worthy example of liberality in educational matters. The officers of the stake understood the matter and to do their best to pay off the indebtedness.

Elder Joseph Taylor spoke on the same subject, referring to the donation made by Hiram S. Eldredge and Eliza E. Snow to establish the institution, whose example was worthy of emulation.

At the afternoon session President Lorenzo Snow made a timely address on the duties of the Saints.

Elder Heber J. Grant spoke upon the necessity of attending the first session of the conference. He counseled the people to observe the word of wisdom and the laws of God, and to keep their hearts clean. He said that the temple was referred to and the speaker believed that if they were to obey the word of wisdom, the temple would be made up of the people who would not squander their means, and every effort should be made to keep money at home.

Elder A. H. Cannon spoke upon the care of the poor, and thought it better for those who were able to do so to secure homes in the country through homestead entry.

Elder Angus M. Cannon commented the advice given by the previous speakers and said that he had been very much pleased by Elder S. A. Woolly, the conference adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock.

What of September.

Tomorrow we open our September bargain counter and will display thereon a choice collection of corners and inside property on Laurel and Alta streets, and on Military and Fort Douglas avenues, in Poperton Place. This frontage is all upon the city water mains, close to the Rapid Transit line, and each location has its own particular view of the city. August was a good month with us, and we enter September confident of having a steady trade. We are making converts every day, as every day, one of the people see and appreciate the attractions of our suburb.

At the Garden City.

Provo, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Tennie S. Taylor gave a lawn party last evening at her residence. About seventy-five of Provo's most prominent citizens were present. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Taylor's brother, Eric Smoot, who goes to the Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore, Md., to be absent for some time studying.

The Nineteenth Century club met yesterday afternoon at the residence of the vice-president, Mrs. Wedgewood. Saverly Carter, living on the bench north of town, had two fingers very suddenly amputated last Friday by getting them entangled in the ropes of a hay fork.

Tom Harrison, of La Plata fame, has just come to town direct from the Utah country. He reports that the country has been misrepresented as far as mineral goes. He says there is none there that he can find. Tom will hereafter devote most of his time in other places than Utah when prospecting for mineral.

It is reported that when Judge King opens the regular term of the First District court on the 17th of the month, he will find about 1,000 cases, criminal and civil, to be disposed of.

No new cases filed today in court. Mrs. D. K. Olson, of Fillmore, is in town for a few days attending her son Frank, who has been quite ill, but is rapidly recovering.

Grant C. Bagley has been spending a day or two with his sister, Mrs. Sam A. King, and returns to his Cottonwood home today.

The Immortal Artemus.

Artemus Ward, who, by the way, was an early advertiser of Salt Lake, in one of his letters to the country press, said: "I am moving down, slowly moving down, with my great moral show, towards your place. We are moving on, slowly moving on, with Poperton Place to the time when there will be no more and everything in vantage. If you were going to make an ideal spot, and were especially endowed by Omnipotence, with creative power, what could you make better than Poperton? Would you not give your creation the same view, the same health conditions, the same pure air, that we have, and would you not say at its completion, there! there it is, I made it, and it is good?"

We had a little something to say last week about what we can see from our front porch in Poperton Place. It attracted much attention, and, but for violating an inflexible rule to never repeat, we would reproduce it. Cut it out and paste it on your looking glass; and then go and bet everything you have that there isn't a porch in Salt Lake, outside of Poperton, than can compete with ours. It is a dead sure thing that you will win, and you can bet on the surest of sure things without any danger of police interference.

Salt Lake College.

Will open its first year in "Hammond Hall," Salt Lake academy building, September 17. There will be an entirely new corps of professors, and every effort will be made to have the work and influence of the college earnestly Christian as well as thorough and superior in the quality of its instruction. Academic preparatory classes will be continued, as heretofore, and a Freshman class will be organized. Boarding houses, looking houses, or "furnished rooms." There is never any speculation in intermediate property. If ever it has supremacy a residence property, it loses it when suburbs commence to grow. It is too far for business, and too close for residence, and there is never any money in it. Well situated suburban property is always good to own, as a place for residence, it is always acceptable, because of its being removed from the bad air and dust of the city, and because, nowadays, rapid transit facilities are so perfect that it is reached speedily and with comfort. As a speculative proposition, it is always good, because good people go there, build good houses on large pieces of ground; and as a result values constantly increase. If there is any better suburb to Salt Lake than Poperton Place, will somebody please mention its name? We are selling frontage there to good people, and we have more to sell. We are at 6 and 7 Commercial block, and can take you out from Main street in seventeen minutes.

CONVERTS ARE WELCOME.

Drs. Shores & Shores Represent New Thought, New Methods.

They Are Investigators in the Field of Medical Science, and the Results of Their Labors Belong to the World.

Their Painless, Skillful and Scientific Methods Gain Many Converts from Every Source Each Day.

The satisfaction that is felt by Drs. Shores and Shores with the results of their work in Salt Lake is doubly great when they consider that they have practically revolutionized the system heretofore in general use for the cure of catarrhal diseases. That that system has been in general use is abundantly established by the numberless complaints daily made by patients applying for the new treatment.

The mild and painless method of treatment that these physicians introduced has superseded the old heroic forms and NOSE-BURNING, MEMBRANOUS DESTROYING and POISONOUS DRUG practices, need no longer be dreaded.

Drs. Shores and Shores are not fogies. They represent new thought, new methods. The mild and painless treatment which they offer the sufferer is being accepted just as all improvements on old ways are accepted, gratefully and joyously.

The immense practice they have built up in Salt Lake is simply an army of enthusiastic patients, delighted with the mild, gentle, sympathetic treatment they have received; happy over its results, and overflowing with gratitude for the relief brought to their afflicted systems. They tell their friends of it, they "publish it to every land." Many of these statements come from patients who have been given up by other physicians; from patients who have expected to die; from victims of the terrible treatment of medical torturers, and from men and women who had been told by doctors whom they trusted that their disease was incurable.

They do not come from emotional or hysterical persons, but from sensible business men, practical home-working women, and professional gentlemen, who, under ordinary circumstances are loath to declare an opinion.

Drs. Shores and Shores have no small jealousies or petty malice. They are too broad-minded, too skillful, too successful for that. They are glad to have the profession as well as the public know and comment upon their wonderful success, and learn the lessons which can be learned from it. There is room enough for all; there is room enough in the world for every man except that man who refuses to learn, who prefers the old to the new without reason, and declines to adopt the new which science gives to each new generation.

Welcome to the new light, brethren, and with its effulgent rays illuminating your work you may achieve the same success that crowns the efforts of Drs. Shores and Shores.

MRS. METTIE MILLER.
An Aged, Serious and Respected Lady Adds Her Testimony to the Multitude in Praise of Drs. Shores and Shores' New Treatment—The Result in Her Own Case.

Mrs. Mettie Miller, of 545 Tenth East street, is a lady of 34 years, respected and well known. Mr. Miller is a carpenter and builder and they have lived in Salt Lake for seventeen years. In a recent interview Mrs. Miller said: "Yes, sir; I have been successfully treated by Drs. Shores and Shores for a very serious trouble. I am now one of the many who stand ready to recommend and praise these splendid physicians."

MRS. METTIE MILLER, 545 TENTH EAST STREET.

"When I went to Drs. Shores and Shores I had been a sufferer from catarrh for twelve years. The disease had affected my head, eyes and throat and in fact my whole system to such an extent that I was absolutely miserable all the time. My head and nose were stopped up; throat and eyes were sore and painful; I was continually having and clearing my throat; I had no appetite; my sleep did not refresh me at all, and I was weak and nervous and run down generally.

"Now, since my treatment with Drs. Shores and Shores, I am like a new woman. I feel splendid in every way and am glad of the opportunity to recommend them to all in need of a good physician."

THE PAPER KNIFE.

(Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.) The paper knife is the friend of indolence. Made for cutting, it invites not to cut. If you cut as you read, (I do), when a book is dull the extra trouble stops you. Who could read some popular works if he had to cut the pages? If you cut all through a volume first, you take it as read, you feel as if you had read it. Some one sends me poems. I cut the pages, for fear lest he should read the volume all uncut. I have read the poems—jama! a grand jama! Or, again, you cut a book. "Then comes an interruption, a visitor, a conversation with your wife, a fit of gout; in brief, one of the miseries of life. You return to the book. It is cut—ergo, you have read it. So you never do read it; so no books are read at all.

Yes, They Were Great Races,

AND ZEIGLER IS A HOT BOY!

Don't you know that the secret of Mr. Zeigler's great success lies in the fact that he rides the fastest wheel built. He has tried all the leading wheels now made and has satisfied himself beyond all controversy that there is nothing built to compare with the Rambler. With such bearings and tires a fast man cannot do otherwise than create a sensation. Zeigler rode with apparent ease, while his opponents were exerting themselves to the utmost, and the way he left them, ay? For the last two years the Rambler has been breaking and making records, till today they hold more world's records than any other wheel built. If you are fast, ride a Rambler and step up among the top-notchers. Come and get a catalogue.
